

WILD THROUGH THE WOODS I'LL FLY

WILD THROUGH THE WOODS I'LL FLY

Sunday, May 19,
3:00pm

Newman College
Chapel

887 Swanston St,
Parkville

The theme of love-stricken madness has long attracted musicians. In this anthology of 'mad songs' through the ages, the Choir of Newman College joins forces with the Australian soprano and harpist, Amelia Le Plastrier, to perform music ranging from Renaissance ballads to the riveting final scene of Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. Le Plastrier will share the fruits of her doctoral research into the 'mad song' in this evocative and colourful concert.

featuring

Anonymous 'Tom a bedlam'
Henry Purcell 'If love's a sweet passion'
Henry Purcell 'From rosy bowers'
Gustav Holst 'I love my love'
Benjamin Britten Rejoice in the lamb
Gaetano Donizetti Mad Scene from Lucia di Lammermoor

The Choir of Newman College

Soprano, harp Amelia Le Plastrier
Piano, organ Dean Sky-Lucas
Director Gary Ekkel

Tickets: $40, $30 (conc.), $10 (students)

Bookings: www.trybooking.com/CQXLR

Image: © Charlotte Ekkel Design: J² Design

